"SLEEPING BEAUTY"1995 Â Â Directed by Bob Adams.

Bob has fond memories of both directing and acting in pantomimes which was a Players annual tradition. "The wicked villain is much more fun to play than the good guy," Bob said. "As Baron Hickory in Hickory Dickory Dock 1996, I was terrorising the audience when a little girl in the front row ran screaming from the theatre with Grandma chasing her."

Sherry Barnes' favourite memory from Sleeping Beauty was when a Dad had to take his little boy home at interval - he was so frightened of the Wicked Fairy he refused to go back into the theatre - the little boy that is, not the Dad! Â
