

Important - MAMMA MIA Postponed Until Later In the Year

Last Updated Sunday, 13 December 2020

Â

Mamma Mia will live on â€“ later in the yearÂ Bundaberg Players Inc has come to the heart wrenching decision to â€œmothballâ€ their sell out production of Mamma Mia.Â Bundaberg Playersâ€™ President Nigel Dick said it was a decision that wasnâ€™t made lightly, but was made in the best interests of members and patrons.Â â€œThe health and safety of our cast, crew and audiences is our most important priority,â€ Nigel said.

â€œWith the current coronavirus pandemic, we have decided to postpone our production of Mamma Mia!. We hope that audiences, especially our subscribers, will understand the difficult decision we have had to make and know we have made it for the very best of reasons â€“ for their safety.â€Â The Playhouse stage will remain in darkness for at least the next three months.Â â€œThis decision is hugely disappointing for cast members and technical teams who have been working on the Production since last December, and we thank patrons for their patience and understanding as we navigate this challenging development.â€Â â€œWe certainly didnâ€™t want to cancel the production and are currently in negotiations to reschedule the production later in the year.â€Â â€œObviously, this will not suit all patrons who have purchased tickets for one of â€œMamma Miaâ€™sâ€™ 12 performances, but our committee is hopeful patrons will support the Playhouse Theatreâ€™s best option to simply re-assign purchased tickets for a later date.Â Those patrons who would prefer a refund should write to secretary@bpi.org.au, and box office staff (all volunteers) will contact them as soon as possible.Â â€œThis is unprecedented in Bundaberg Playersâ€™ history but we know weâ€™ve made the right decision for the health and safety of everyone.â€Â The constantly evolving situation and the theatre will continue to post the latest information on our website.Â Bundaberg Players Incorporated is a non-profit organisation - A.B.N. â€“ 17 230 846 639 Â Print the Announcement

Â